Lockdown -An Opportunity

It's CATCH22 situation we are in but even the deadly dark clouds of coronavirus has a bright spots. Amid in the lockdown there is a joy of having a family together. Parents as well as children are rediscovering the joy of spending time together. Apart from all the negativity around everyone is trying to find positivity in different aspects. And why we shouldn't? After all people being busy with hectic schedule got time to spend it with their dear ones. This period is an opportunity to burnish the skills we have, to think of miniature vanaprastha-a "retiring into the forest". This time is definitely a lesson for all of us to flatten the ego curve and invade any person irrespective of caste, creed or religion. We must empathise with all for a better India. This time the world needs a 'Human Unity'. We need to practice peace and unity in our homes, neighbourhood, communities and in the world at large and become an ambassador of human unity. Do make use of privileges and be a helping hand for others. This will prove yourself as good person on humanitarian ground. This fight is our moment of reckoning and we need to win this war together. In this we don't need to scourge rather we need to face it with mettle so that we can ease the shutdown swiftly. I know this will take six months or a year to recover the loss but with support of people of our country we can readily overcome this. With just few things to keep in mind is- keep yourself indoors, keep sanitizing. For your dear zindagi! I would conclude with few words of our former Prime Minister "At the stroke of the midnight hour, when the world sleep India will awake to life and freedom".

The Right Meaning of "Never Judge a book by its Cover "

Everyone feels the meaning of the saying, never judge a book by its cover as they can't simply judge people only by their appearances. But this is not always true. For Instance, if an employee wants to enroll or sign up an employee and hundred of people apply, the employer will probably narrow the list down based on first impressions. In other words, the employer is judging them by their cover to save time. But When it comes to choosing friends, we have to choose carefully. Some people might be bad for us. If we choose them wrongly, the results are very serious. The wrong kind of friends can create all kinds of trouble for us. I think, rather than judging a book by its cover, we need to read all the content of the book and base our judgement on what we see there.
